Wilson, Young, Elected New Soph, Frosh Prexies

What is the solution to this jam at the Fremont Entrance?

Klaus, Reinstedt Are New Class Veeps

Monterey Peninsula College freshman and sophomore classes now have a complete slate of officers after a second balloting, held Friday October 2, to decide tied positions.

Those who emerged triumphant, for the sophomores, were: Chuck Wilson President; Betty Klaus, Vice President; Marian Drake, Secretary; and Gertrude Beall as Treasurer. For the freshmen, Franklin Young was elected to the post of President; Randy Reinstedt to Vice President; Pat Hansen to the post of Secretary and Virginia Furlong to the post of freshman Treasurer.

Looking into the background of the newly elected class presidents and vice presidents...Chuck Wilson attended Monterey Union High School and while he was there served as President of the Palateers, an art association. Chuck's chosen vocation is to do layout and design for an advertising agency. In the way of sports, Chuck was a member of MUHS football and swimming teams, receiving his letter in both. Here at MPC he is a member of the swimming team.

Betty Klaus, the sophomore veep, is a graduate from PG High School. Being a good student as well as leader, Betty was President of The California Scholarship Foundation at PG High. Here at MPC she is the Secretary of the Alpha Gamma Sigma, the college scholarship society.

Franklin Young, the new Frosh President, used to be seen wandering around the halls of Monterey Union High. While he was there he served as President of the Bible and Spanish clubs. Franklin is studying to become a Minister of the Gospel. In the way of sports Frank plays basketball and tennis. By the way, Frank was born in Carmel.

The new frosh Vice President is Randy Reinstedt who graduated from Monterey High. While Randy was there, he served as treasurer of the senior class and vice president of the student body.

We, the staff of El Yanqui, say congratulations to the new class officers.

Music Doubles

MPC now has two music buildings. The old locker room has been converted into a new music building. The idea was originated last year when the need for more space became apparent. The building is divided into three practice rooms, three offices, a recording room, a main rehearsal room, and a room where the band uniforms and choir robes are stored. The new building is being used primarily for instrumental music and band. The other building is being used for choral instruction and choir.

Band In New Uniforms

There are 43 uniforms filled, but six of them are filled by football players.

The band uniforms are beautifully styled. They are maroon and white except for the drum major's uniform which is white and maroon, if you get what I mean.

They may be worn nine different ways, with or without a shield, and to be formal, may be buttoned all the way up to the top, or to be informal they may be worn lance style.

What kind of music does the band play? Dr. Hubbard says, "Everything from be-bop to more conventional things, just so they please the audience."

The band practices in the new music building at noon.

Armory Under Way

On September 18 Dr. Calvin C. Flint received word that the armory will be built on the MPC campus and the Colonel in charge of National Guard Armories was on campus the week of September 21 to discuss plans for the building. It will take two months for the armory to be completed. The delay in the building of the armory was caused by the question as to whether it was legal to build on a college campus.

The location of the armory will be on the road that is MPC's Carmel exit. At present, clearing has been completed of the area. A 14 foot cut was required to level off the southern part of the site. The earth moving work has been done by the Granite Construction Company. The entire operation is being done in "projects." First, one portion is constructed, approved and paid for, then another project is started. The National Guard is installing a cement floor, but it is allowing the school to put in a maple floor which will cost $7,000. The armory will be available for basketball practice from 8 am to 5 pm.

Freeway To Solve Fremont Jam

It's on its' way — the solution to one of MPC's major traffic problems, the Fremont entrance. For months drivers from MPC have been forced to wait for traffic to pass at the entrance before entering onto Fremont. The freeway that was to have been open now, is on the drawing board. The delay is due to some property owners' reluctance to sell their land to the state. Since this reluctance caused a complete in surveying plans, the construction is behind schedule.

The new freeway will cut through three holes of the Del Monte Golf Course and will come near the college sign at the present entrance. It will be a wide limited access highway that has been sorely needed in this area for a long time.

What, No Sign ?

The State Division of Highways has refused the City of Monterey request to provide added directional guides on the proposed new Fremont Freeway.

City Manager Hahn had requested the highway office to install signs pointing to MPC, the golf course and line school, and other areas.

The highway office said in a letter to Hahn that it would be "impossible" to place more than one name on each directional marker. They continued, in regard to MPC, "that if a college has a four-year curriculum or higher then it is possible to include the name of college on a sign." As we know, MPC has only a two-year program.

Petri Opens College Music Recital Series

Egon Petri, world famous pianist, will give the first recital in the Monterey Peninsula College Recital Series in room M3 on the college campus on Friday, October 16 at 8:30 in the evening.

Mr. Petri is a descendant of a family which for generations has produced outstanding musicians. He is the son of a celebrated Dutch violinist. The Petri home was a rendezvous for leading musicians. So as a child Mr. Petri came into personal contact with such musicians as Grieg and Brahms. His American debut took place in New York in 1932. Mr. Petri has made many outstanding recordings for Columbia records. He is now teaching at Mills College and gives only two recitals a year.

Support Your Community Chest

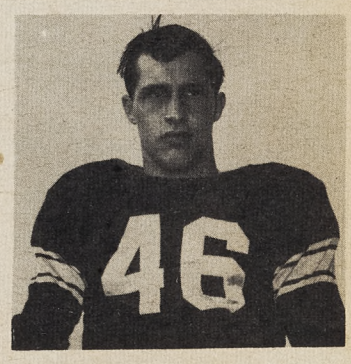

The Monterey Peninsula Community Chest Drive is now under way. We are all a part of this important campaign, and it is up to all of us to make the drive a success. The goal this year is $82,157, 14 per cent higher than last year.

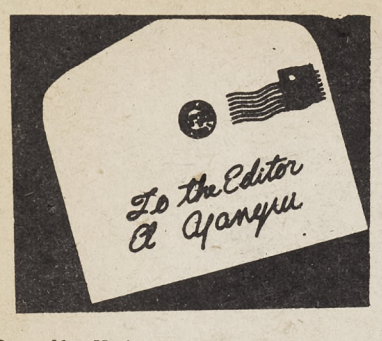

The Community Chest helps to make our own community a better place to live in by making those who are less fortunate happier, and supporting such fine organizations as the Girl and Boy Scouts, the various youth centers on the Peninsula and the USO.

Remember, we all benefit when we support the Community Chest... so give, and give as much as you can to this year's Monterey Peninsula Community Chest.

Gene Rumrill, guard for the Lobos says, "I can't wait to get out of this uniform and into Bud Giles' clothes."

Dear Mr. Huden:

You are no doubt surprised to hear from me, but last year when we were winding things up on El Yanqui, I forgot to put my name on the exchange list....especially since I thought I'd be back again this year.

Since I'll be married in about ten more weeks (December 6), I decided this summer to continue working...as you can see, I'm at the Santa Cruz Sentinel, and having a great time.

However, I'd much appreciate it if you could put me on your exchange list, and try to find me that Registration Day edition we wrote last year for the first day of school. Would really like to keep up on what's happening at MPC. And by the way, why not send me all the MPC publicity, % the Sentinel, and I'll make sure they get printed! A deal?

And just one more thing....please don't put me in your "letters to the editor." Thanks much....

Barbara Elder

Editor's Note: We just know Barbara didn't mean what she said in the last paragraph.

Dear Mr. Huden:

Had planned to see you and some of the others out at dear old MPC before leaving the Peninsula for here, but got snowed with work of packing and related chores. To explain, my mother sold our house in Carmel this spring. She was asked by one of her sisters to come to Austin to stay for a time, and since my Aunt had room for me and the University of Texas is located here, I decided to tag along. Sort of hated to leave the University of California and California in general, but now that I am here I think I am going to like it fine.

Registration for me is Saturday morning, with school starting Monday. As my schedule looks now I will take college algebra, elementary physics, philosophy, and seven units of journalism. Texas has a much bigger journalism department than does Cal. In fact, it is the only school in the college of Arts and Sciences--the rest are departments. The head of the school is Dr. Paul Thompson, who knows Dr. Desmond of Cal. Perhaps you know him, or of him, also.

To be perfectly honest, my main reason in writing you is to ask for a letter of recommendation. Not content with a year and a half active Navy duty, I am in the process of joining the Marine Corps' officer candidate course for college seniors. Part of the form is to get three letters of recommendation from responsible citizens that I have known. Naturally I thought of you as a prime target. The letter need not be anything elaborate. Just the usual kind words telling what a hard working character I am, and how fit I am to be a Marine officer. You might have to lie a tiny bit, but go ahead. Seriously, I would appreciate it if you would dash off a short note of recommendation for me. Enclosed you will find a self-addressed envelope for your convenience. Thank you in advance.

I have discovered that Texas tends to be a trifle hotter than California, and especially the Monterey Peninsula. Have stood it so far, so I guess I can bear up for the length of time I will be here, which should be only to the 16th of July next year. Turns out I have to take a summer session to get my degree here. Oh well, school is fun.

Well, best of luck to you during the coming school year. Please say hello to those on the faculty who remember me. And thanks again for the generous letter of recommendation (I hope).

Sincerely,
David H. Grafft

Dear Mr. Huden:

Now that school has begun again, I kind of miss the old place and all the people I met there. In order that I might keep up with the happenings at MPC I would appreciate it very much if you would add my name to your mailing list for El Yanqui.

Since graduating last spring I have become employed as secretary in an insurance office and though I like the job I rather miss MPC and all the fun I had there. I am looking forward to receiving copies of El Yanqui so I hope you can arrange it for me.

Sincerely,
Barbara Evans

Dr. Balsam recently returned from London and Manchester, England where he conducted a series of sociological and business conferences. "I found the British the least frustrated of any people in the world," Dr. Balsam stated. They gave the impression of having found a deep satisfaction in life. They seem to devote their lives to improving human relationships rather than increasing material possessions. Only the well-to-do own cars and the poor man rides a bicycle.

Whether they would feel so philosophic if they had our wage scale would be a fair question," said Dr. Balsam.

Dr. Balsam also went to Paris and was there during the utility strike which lasted for ten days. There were no lights, electricity, gas or buses.

According to Dr. Balsam the French are finding it tough to be a second-rate power. Once they possessed the cultural center of the world. Now New York, London, and Berlin have taken that spotlight away from them.

The young students are the hope of France. They will pull France out of it's dilemma.

Dr. Balsam also visited Venice. He found this a charming city where there was no wheel traffic whatsoever. The Italians do not envy anybody. They welcome we Americans and seem glad that other people are better off than they are.

All through the trip Dr. Balsam lived with families, not in hotels. A great benefit of foreign travel for an American is the realization of what extremely fortunate people we are. We are better off materially, artistically, and spiritually than most countries of Europe.

The Navy announced recently that the eighth nation-wide competitive examination for its College Training Program has been scheduled for December 12, 1953, and will be open to high school seniors or graduates within the age requirements. Successful condidates will start their Naval careers in colleges and universities across the country in 1954 with substantial financial assistance. Qualified graduates will be commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and will enter the Fleet as well-trained junior officers, taking their places alongside young officers from other outstanding colleges of the country and the United States Naval Academy.

The program is open to male citizens of the United States between the ages of 17 and 21, and quotas have been assigned to each state and territory on the basis of its high school population. Those who are successful in passing the aptitude test will be interviewed and given physical examinations; then, if found qualified, their names will be submitted to state and territorial Selection Committees for final selection. These committees are composed of prominent citizens and naval officers. The Navy expects to enter about 2,000 students into the program commencing with the fall term of college, 1954.

Students finally selected, if accepted by the NROTC college or university of their choice, will be enrolled and appointed Midshipmen, USNR. They then receive retainer pay at the rate of $50.00 per month to assist in defraying such expenses as board and room. The government pays tuition, the cost of textbooks, and other fees of an instructional nature.

Students commissioned from this program are obligated to serve on active duty for three years and those selected as career officers at the expiration of this period continue their professional growth concurrently with their Naval Academy contemporaries.

Ord Soldiers Entertain

by Jack Hilgers

The vaudeville show that was presented by the Special Services Office of Fort Ord was a huge success. The show lasted for almost an hour and a half and it could have lasted longer. The master of ceremonies was Bill Linton who sang two songs from the operetta "The Desert Song." Before "joining" the Army Bill sang regularly for a radio station in Detroit, Michigan and was a student at the Pasadena Playhouse. Bobs Watson did a monologue on "The Shooting of Dan McGrew." Bobs was a movie actor and you may have seen him in "On Borrowed Time" with Lionel Barrymore. He may be seen at the First Theater as Joe Morgan, the drunkard, in "Ten Nights in a Bar Room." Bob Williams who sang "PS I Love You" has made several recordings for Victor records and was about to fulfill a movie contract when the Army called.

TENNIS ANYONE?

In a very short time MPC will be sporting five new tennis courts on its campus. Although a site for tennis courts was set aside when the original plans for the college were drawn up, due to a limited budget actual construction was not possible until this year, when news was received that the state appropriation to the school would be increased by $15,000. The courts were not completed by the start of this semester because word of this increased appropriation was not received by the school board until July 10. The courts are being built by the Granite Construction Co. at a cost of $15,700.

According to Dr. Flint all five of the courts will be constructed with the finest tournament-type material. There will be a practice backboard provided and a space will be left for the future construction of bleachers which will overlook one of the courts. Part of the fencing will be new and part will be salvaged from the old Monterey High School courts.

FORT ORD SHOW

Dennis Harbough who played that hot Uke plays all kinds of musical instruments. Before the Army got him he toured with the Horace Heidt Show doing dance routines. Donald Draper, the boy with the "gittar," did the "Gittar Boogie" and a parody on the song "You Wore A Tulip." He is famous for his parodies and has appeared at many of San Francisco's night spots like the Redwood Gardens. Lou McConkey, the born comedian, did several numbers on the accordian. Before he entered the Army he had his own Combo Unit and played many of Los Angeles's night clubs.

Football is in the air, and so is KMBY. If you can't make the game you can listen to it on the local station, which has been broadcasting both home and away games for about three years. Broadcasts are sponsored by four local concerns, Union Supply, Coca Cola, Palace Stationery, and Wilder and Jones. MPC Sports Writers

Mel Bowen, former editor for El Yanqui, is following the Lobos for the Monterey Herald and for the Santa Cruz paper. Gene Rumrill will cover MPC sports for the Watsonville Register-Pajaronian.

Football Recap

The Lobos came out of a beginning slump October 2 in their first conference game of the '53 season and trounced the Marin Tars 34-6. In their exhibition-practice games, however the Sea Wolves saw defeat by a touchdown at Reedley and by one point at Napa in Northern California.

NAPA

In their season's opener at Napa on the 18th of September the Lobos, being nearly all frosh had a tough time making their plays click resulting in a 14-13 loss for the eleven Maroon-clad.

Monterey's 13 points were made by John Lewis and Fred Nelson with 7 and 6 points respectively. The statistics placed Monterey ahead. However, there was a difference of 166 yards gained with the Lobos making 13 first downs and the Napa Chiefs 6.

REEDLEY

A decided improvement was shown when MPC hit Reedley in their Grape Festival and clashed against a veteran club using the same offense as their own. The game went nip and tuck throughout the first half with Lewis scoring and with Delgadillo and Beadnell turning in some long gainers. Reedley scored in the first half and then on a fumble got possession of the ball at the Lobo four yard line and scored again in the final period..Score 13-7.

MARIN

To open their conference play the mighty Lobos awoke to the offensive strategy of coach Tidwell and blasted the Tars of Marin to the tune of a 34-6 score.

Three strings of players saw action as Bob Updike, Fred Nelson, John Lewis, and Jack Russo ran for rouchdowns, Russo chalking up two. Quarterback John Coniglio ran the powerful Lobos machine around the Marin ends time and time again for long gainers, as did Coble and Hazdovac.

Monterey's defense held the Tars to only six first downs and to 88 yards gained, while the rambling Lobos ran 371 yards and made 12 first downs.

What will it be, a win or a loss? Tomorrow night the MPC Lobos clash with the unadvertised Cal Poly JV's in a game calculated to bring you many thrills.

Last year the Lobos were defeated by the discouraging score of 7-6. Things should be different this year, although nothing is known of the potential power that the Cal Poly JV's might possess. However, Coach Tidwell's Lobos hope to be prepared to deal with any hidden talent coming from the opposition.

The starting line positions, filled by all freshmen and averaging a weight of 192 pounds per man will probably consist of: ends, Walt Langford and Charlie Howell; tackles, Sal Aiello and Delman Scales; guards, John Compagno and Doug Forzani; and center, Don Canham.

Competition is high for starting positions in the backfield. Coach Tidwell has his hands full with such star players as John Coniglio, Fred Delgadillo, Bob Updike, John Lewis, Fred Nelson, Jack Russo, Charlie Collins, and Nick Hazdovac. Coach Tidwell had not yet made his starting backfield selections at press time.

Barbecue--Dance Hailed Big Success

Know Your Student Council

Twice a year we elect student body officers after some pretty ingenious campaigning, but how many of you know what else goes on in our student government? Probably many of you know that the Executive Council meets twice a week, on Tuesday and Thursday at 1 p.m. Maybe you can recite the officers' names and positions, but as you might guess more goes on in the student legislature than elections.

Some of the important transactions coming before the council include budgeting of student body funds, planning social affairs, controlling activities of the Inter-club Council, governing all college activities, and participating in semi-annual regional conferences and the annual state conference.

This column will be a regular feature of El Yanqui and is planned to inform you on the doings of the Executive Council. But if you're free at 1 p.m. some Tuesday or Thursday why not drop in and see for yourself what goes on in those little sessions?

Naval Aviation Cadet Shelton M. Burwell, former MPC student from Pacific Grove, graduated last month from the U.S. Naval Air School at Pensacola, Florida.

Little Sisters

AWS activities under the leadership of Gloria Luzzi got under way with a Welcoming Tea in honor of new women students. Initiation activities were announced at that time and Lorraine Bispo and Pat Sibley assigned each sophomore girl four "little sisters," whom they will help acquaint with the college.

AWS officers this semester are: Gloria Luzzi, president, and Frances Bailey, secretary. The vice-president and business manager positions are vacant.

Sports Club officers are: Allene Petty, president; Jane Lowrey, vice-president; and Joanne Cox, secretary.

Adrian de la Rosa is served by a bevy of pretty co-eds.

There was a large turnout for the big barbecue and dance held Wednesday, September 30th.

Everyone had a nice super-size juicy steak with salad, garlic bread and chili beans. For desert there was ice cream and coca cola to drink. Everybody sat around on the lawns enthusiastically enjoying the dinner.

After the barbecue a community sing was held in the Student Union. Such nostalgic songs as "Good Night Irene" and "Show Me the Way To Go Home" were sung.

Then the dance started and all seemed to have a good time. There was some entertainment given by Mickey McFail doing a pantomime of "Hello Bluebird." Also Don Stalter played the guitar and Arlene Constanti sang several numbers.

Block M

Block M activities for the fall semester are under way under the leadership of Jim Thompson, Gene Bailey, and Tom Hurff, newly elected to the president, vice-president, and secretary positions, respectively.

Membership in the Block M is limited to those members of the various inter-collegiate athletic squads who have made letters in their chosen fields. Members this semester are Mel Bowen, Angelo Bruscas, Gary Childs, Jerry Colman, John Coniglio, George Cornford, Fred Delgadillo, Al Hill, Oyar Kratins, Don Minick, Ralph Westover, Don Whaley, Chuck Wilson, Bob Woodward, and Kelley Wright.

Will Rooter's Bus Go To Menlo

Will the rooters bus go to Menlo? The Attorney General says funds cannot be collected by a school district to pay for a bus to transport rooters. In other words, the bus, if it is sent, must be free to the students and the school board must foot the bill. Dr. Flint prevailed upon the school board to lend MPC a high school bus for the Marin Game. The cost was at least $102. The school board cannot, of course, afford this expense. How can we get the money to take a bus to Menlo? See Dr. Flint and your suggestions.

And another question is, if we do get a bus, who gets the priority on the seats.

AWS Tea

The Associated Women Students held a tea for all women students Friday, September 18. Margaret Harris and Frances Bailey told the new girls about some of the AWS activities, as well as some of its past accomplishments. Freshmen girls were informed of initiation activities, which included wearing maroon bows for a whole week starting that Monday and every Friday through homecoming. Each sophomore girl was assigned four freshmen "little sisters" to make sure the initiation was carried out.
